Our Expertise

The strategic and economic success for the client is at the forefront of aquimer's cross-sector and bank-independent advisory services. This has been realized by aquimer in numerous, successfully completed transactions in the small and midcap sector.

aquimer's advisory services include the analysis of markets, the initiation of transaction processes as well as the assumption of the organization, structuring and implementation of the transaction.

Essential for the success of aquimer's advisory services are professional competence, a structured approach, creativity and negotiation skills. However, social competence is crucial for understanding and bundling the objectives of the acting parties. The conclusion of the transaction requires a common solution space – this space must be developed and successfully realized.
